

Chemistry Majors: study for a year in Europe!

Participating universities include:

University of Regensburg, Germany
EU Lead Institution

Dublin City University, Ireland
EU Partner Institution

University of Kansas
US Lead Institution

University of Arkansas
US Partner Institution

For more information, please contact:
Prof. Jeffrey Aubé
Department of Medicinal Chemistry
Phone: 785-864-4496
E-mail: jaube@ku.edu

www.studyabroad.ku.edu
www-oc.uni-regensburg.de/atlantiss

EU Atlantis Program

Transatlantic Dual Bachelor of Science Degree in Chemistry

funded by the US Department of Education in partnership with the European Commission

A one-of-a-kind educational experience in Europe

Earn college credit while studying overseas in beautiful, historic Germany and Ireland! Students participating in the EU Atlantis Chemistry Program will spend one academic year abroad with one semester at Dublin City University in Ireland and one semester at the University of Regensburg in Germany.

Upon successful completion of the program, students will be eligible for a dual BS in chemistry degree from KU and the University of Regensburg. The curriculum will offer special opportunities for training and research in drug development/combinational chemistry and several other areas of specialized study. Elective classes in language and cultural instructions also accompany the program.

Fellowships for study abroad at the European institutions are available starting Sept/Oct 2007. US students who are planning on or are currently enrolled in a Bachelor degree of Chemistry program at KU are invited to apply for the Atlantis program. This program is open to students at various stages in their academic career.

Financial Aid

The Atlantis program provides a $12,000 stipend for travel and living expenses. Limited supplemental scholarships are available to KU undergraduates. Applications are available at the Office of Study Abroad (108 Lippincott Hall), or online at www.studyabroad.ku.edu

www-oc.chemie.uni-regensburg.de/atlantis

Application Procedures

Deadline for Fall 2008: March 1, 2008.

